The first watching I laughed a little mostly just trying to read the subtitles and keep up. The second watching I laughed a lot and by the third watching I thought it was hilarious. 3D is a masterpiece of confusion. 3D makes absolutely no attempt to confuse the audience; rather many of the main characters are wildly and hopelessly confused. The film makes no attempt to unconfuse them, either. Even to the very end the actors become furious in their unacceptable positions. To make matters better, Johnny Lever (who I think has ruined scenes in many movies), is also confused and seriously abused. He is actually pretty good, but all of the actors are very good at selling the crazy script. Except for a few places the slapstick is pretty high quality, really. The songs and dancing are catchy, lively and have integrity in that they stick to a theme. Hotty Naughty, performed in a casino, features Neha Dhupia with some male backup dancers living up to its title. It's hot and it's naughty. A real foot tapper. Baamulaiza features Katrina, Akshay, Suniel Shetty and Sameera Reddy. Kat is wearing a dress that flows like magic and Sameera is captivated with Shreya Goshal singing playback. Does Akshay ever behave? The song Paisa Paisa is pretty good too. None of the music disappoints. There is a huge well done water scene at the end of the movie. Although some of the water is real, most of the water is fake high tech digital water. There is a reason why 3D is currently the 5th highest grossing Indian film in 2009. I give the movie 4 1/2 based on the value received relative to the amount paid. 2 people found this helpful, kegaoose, Reviewed in the United States on January 15, 2012, Good but confusing, Verified purchase, Abir Mahafuz, Reviewed in the United States on August 29, 2019, It could be here pheri 3, Verified purchase, godanna, Reviewed in the United States on April 18, 2013, De Dana Dan, Verified purchase, Murtuza Hashim, Reviewed in the United States on August 12, 2015...
